BASECAMP

Greetings, Basecamp Candidates!

This year, we will write history, as GRAPHISOFT hosts its first international Basecamp for university students in Budapest, Hungary, from July 22 through August 2, 2019.

The main goal of GRAPHISOFT Basecamp is to grow your BIM knowledge, and to set you on a path to become the next ARCHICAD champion! Participants are chosen from among architecture students close to or in their final year of studies, possessing a professional level of both spoken and written English and an intermediate level of ARCHICAD knowledge.

Our two weeks together could be an important step in your career path. We are committed to further help your journey by connecting you to some of the best ARCHICAD-based architectural offices in the world.

You will work in small teams with the other participants from around the world: Brazil, Canada, Germany, Hungary, Italy, Mexico, Russia, United States and the United Kingdom. Your tasks will include the modeling, documentation and presentation of an architectural project, delivered by following a BIM-based workflow. You will attend trainings held by GRAPHISOFT professionals and collaborate in workshops with your teammates to learn more about the design process supported by BIM in ARCHICAD.

Further details

Social Activities

Apart from learning and working together, you will have the chance to join your teammates and the GRAPHISOFT crew for several evening events and a weekend field trip. All participants are welcome to Basecamp's opening night event at an outside venue on July 21, where you can meet each other, the trainers and consultants you will be working with, and where we will explain Basecamp in detail. You might want to consider extending your stay a little longer since the SZIGET Festival will kick-off one week after Basecamp ends (read more: https://szigetfestival. com/en/).

Accommodations

Two weeks is a long time, so we want to make sure you are comfortable. We are renting fully equipped flats in the city center for each team, allowing you to explore Budapest on your own free time, and to come and go as you please.

Costs

GRAPHISOFT will bear the costs of your travels to and from Hungary and the cost of your accommodations during the event (from July 21 through the morning of August 2), including lunch and refreshments during training days. To support your daily commute, you will receive a two-week pass that allow you to use Budapest's public transportation day and night (read more: https://bkk.hu/en/maps/)

All you will need to cover is breakfast and dinner, and pocket money to get out and explore the city during your free time.
